

The Third Israel Behavioral Finance Conference
June 4-5, 2019

The Tel Aviv-Yaffo Academic College is pleased to invite you to The Third Israel Behavioral Finance Conference, which will take place on its Tel Aviv campus. Topics to be addressed include behavioral finance theory, and its applications to: the theory of the firm, individual and professional investors, financial markets, international finance, financial institutions, the choice of mortgage alternatives, the choice of investments for retirement alternatives and more.

This is a bi-annual conference aimed at bringing together leading researchers in behavioral and experimental finance. The conference provides its participants with a platform for discussing and exploring advanced research topics and issues. Speakers will be coming from all over the world, therefore the lectures will be conducted in English.

Participation is free. However, we recommend that you register in advance, as space is limited. You can register and submit papers in our website:
